SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 24.—Before United States Judge Robert Bean today, United States District Attorney McNab repeated his defiance of Attorney General McReynolds' orders to postpone the prosecution of the Diggins-Caminetti white slave case and the Western Fuel company. He told the court that he would not "prostitute his office" by postponing action on the Western Fuel case.

Judge Bean set the Western Fuel cases for July 15. The white slave cases were set for July 8.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Wilson will issue a statement late this afternoon dealing with the resignation of District Attorney McNab of San Francisco, and the charges made by him in connection with the Diggins-Caminetti and Western Fuel company prosecutions. The scandal which has resulted from the McNab charges was discussed for two hours and a half at the cabinet meeting today.

None of the cabinet members would say what action was to be taken when they emerged from the cabinet room. They said, however,

24.—"When I hear from Washington as to my resignation I am going to wind up this affair with the attorney general with a double broadside. I have been using only mild charges, but the last charges I produce will settle the whole thing." • This was the statement made today by U. S. District Attorney McNab to the United Press when asked to discuss his action in resigning his office by wire because Attorney General McReynolds ordered a postponement of the Caminetti-Diggins white slave trials at Sacramento. McNab said he had heard nothing from Washington. He refused to state the nature of his next charges but said, "they will be well worth listening to."

that the president will accept the resignation of District Attorney Mc-Nab and will immediately announce his successor or a special prosecutor to act in the proceedings in question.
It is also considered certain that the president will direct that the Diggins-Caminetti cases be moved for trial by the new prosecutor at the earliest possible moment.

Scandal Bothers Wilson

President Wilson is seriously concerned because of the widespread scandal that has developed from the McNab charges. He insisted on a complete explanation during the

PATHFINDER CAR "DOCKS" IN CITY

State Autoists' Advance Car Comes to La Crosse Picking Route for Reliability Run

FIND BAD ROADS ALONG THE ROUTE

Are Given Assurance that Highways Will Be in Shape at Time of Tour in August

Right up to schedule, although it brought a tale of heavy going between Eau Claire and La Crosse, the Mitchell Pathfinder car for the Wisconsin State Automobile association's annual run brought its five passengers into La Crosse a little after 6 last night. The big car "docked" at Charles Holway's garage, local Mitchell agency.

Early this morning they left again to start the homeward leg of the tour. From La Crosse they went down to Viroqua, planning to go from there to Richland Center and thence to Madison. They will spend tonight in Madison and will make Milwaukee the following day.

The pathfinder car carries a party of five headed by M. C. Moore, official route-maker of the association.
With him are Manning Vaughn, sporting editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, H. A. Apple of the "Wisconsin Motorist," D. C. Thomas, representing the Mitchell company, and Ray Barnett, driver.

Today is the fourth since the car left Milwaukee outward bound. It has covered an average of 200 miles a day since the start. The car has run through Appleton, Waupaca, Stevens Point, Merrill and Marshfield. La Crosse is the furthest end of the run planned. From here the cars will turn south again.

The pathfinders declare that roads are at present in bad shape throughout the state, with a few exceptions.
Local road builders in every locality have the roads torn up for repairs, but they have been assured all along the route that by the date of the tour August 8-12, the roads will all be in good condition.

Twenty sorority sisters of the Alpha Delta Phi today attended Miss Mar-ney.

The wedding service was read by the bride's father.

STRIKE AFFAIRS UNCHANGED

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—At the beginning of the eighth day of the strike of Bell Telephone company operators it was declared Tuesday by both sides that conditions virtually were unchanged. Each side, the statement showed, were holding out for the other to make concessions, and each was contending that it ultimately would win the strike.

O. K. SCHEDULES

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The tobacco schedule of the tariff bill was approved unchanged by the senate democratic caucus today. The agricultural schedule was next taken up and rates on cattle, wheat, oats and barley were approved unchanged when the committee took a luncheon recess.

SUDDEN COLD FATAL

GRAND FORKS, N. D., June 24.— Frank Cheney watched the mercury rise toward the 90 mark and walked into a large refrigerator to cool off. The sudden change in temperature caused a blood clot to form on his brain and he died early today.

CRASH ENDS CHASE.

MILWAUKEE, June 24.—The chase of Harry Ludington, grandson of former Governor Ludington of Wisconsin, by two motorcycle policemen, who wanted to arrest him for speeding, but who could not catch him, ended suddenly late Monday night when, while traveling at a rate of forty-five miles an hour, Ludington's auto crashed into a street car. By a miracle all concerned escaped unhurt but the auto was wrecked and the car badly damaged.

GLOVE MAKER LOST.

MILWAUKEE, June 24.—Milwaukee police today began a search for Martin Jensen, a wealthy Manitowoc glove manufacturer, who has been missing more than a week. He

POINCARÉ VISITS KING OF ENGLAND

President in Britain

MET BY FLEET OF WARSHIPS

Greeted by Prince of Wales and King and Housed in Royal Domicile

LONDON, June 24.—Escorted by French warships, the presidential salutes of which reverberated for miles, President Raymond Poincaré of France today arrived at Portsmouth aboard the French battleship Courbet on his state visit to England.
The visit, which will last until Friday, is unique in that it is President Poincaré's first official trip of this kind since his election, and also the first state visit of a foreign ruler in England since the accession of King George.

Lane of Warships

Sixteen great British warships stationed at Spithead formed a lane through which the Courbet and her escort steamed into Portsmouth harbor, and the customary salutes were fired then. Full naval and military honors were accorded when the president landed and he was received by the Prince of Wales in a naval lieutenant's uniform. Admiral Sir George Callaghan and several distinguished officers.

The prince welcomed the president in behalf of King George, etiquette forbidding the king to go any further than the nearest railroad station to meet a visitor and then President Poincaré received an address from the lord mayor and council of Portsmouth. A special train conveyed the party to London.

At Victoria station President Poincaré was received by King George in person, accompanied by the duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur. The guards band played the Marseillaise while the guard of honor presented arms. The greeting between monarch and president was most cordial.

To Royal House

King George and President Poincaré then entered a state carriage, escorted by a detachment of Life guards, and were driven through troop lined, crowded and decorated streets to York house, a royal domicile which has been placed at the president's disposal for his visit.

In half an hour a state carriage reappeared at York house and President Poincaré was escorted to Buckingham palace where he was presented to Queen Mary and the court.

The president was then provided again with a state carriage and proceeded to call upon the cabinet ministers and members of royalty.

lowing a quarrel that ended in a fight between the two early today, because Kane put his horses in the wrong barn Daggett is said to have abused him and the fight started.
Physicians say the injured man's skull is fractured and that he probably will die.

WILSONS HAVE ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON, June 24.— President and Mrs. Wilson today observed their 28th wedding anniversary without ostentation, and merely as a "family."

A few relatives visiting at the White house took part in the quiet observance, but there were no outsiders. Aside from attending the cabinet meeting, the president had no appointments and remained "at home" as much as possible. Nevertheless hundreds of congratulatory telegrams arrived during the day.

LA CROSSE WATERS EXEMPT FROM NETS

censed in This County

Legislature May Appoint a Committee to Readjust
All Game and Fish Laws

All sloughs connected with the Mississippi and Black rivers in La Crosse county are exempt from net and seine fishing according to a law enacted by the Wisconsin legislature, a copy of which was received by Deputy Game Warden Edward W.
Gautsch today. Although the greatest part of the waters of the Mississippi and Black rivers were exempt by the law in force up to this year, the new law includes all of the waters in the county. The law was passed at the urgent request of the La Crosse County Hunting and Fishing association as a means of protecting the rights of rod fishermen of this city and community.

Rod fishermen have complained for several years that their favorite fishing holes were being depleted by the depredations of the commercial fishermen and the agitation to put a stop to the activities of the net and seine men grew so strong that the legislature was compelled to take cognizance of their complaints.

According to the law in Minnesota it is impossible to obtain legislation for special territory or communities in the gopher state and for that reason the exemption of the La Crosse county waters was not included in the laws enacted at the recommendation of the joint committee of the Wisconsin and Minnesota legislatures this spring.

The only means of exempting the La Crosse county waters was to secure special provisions in the Wisconsin law. There are also several sloughs south of La Crosse adjacent to this county which are exempted by the new law.

Several thousand names have been sent to the legislature by the La
club affixed to a petition for the appointment of a legislative committee to make a thorough investigation of the game and fishing laws of the state with a view to a readjustment of these laws. It is probable that such a committee will be appointed and will hold meetings in all of the larger cities in the state including La Crosse.

EXPLAINS OBJECT OF MONEY REFORM

Ohio Representative Likens Currency Situation

SAYS FEW CONTROL SUPPLY

Problem Is to Put Check on Men Who Have Power to Stop the Flow of Money

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Here's the first currency primer, issued today through the United Press for the man who wants to take a primary lesson on currency in language he understands.

BY STANLEY BOWDLE.

(Representative from Ohio.)

Suppose I had a big coal mine located on a great railroad. I might suppose that this was real wealth to me and great good to the city over there. But wait a minute—this mine is nothing to me and nothing to that city unless I can get at proper times and in proper number the necessary freight cars from the railroad. A working mine plus cars is wealth for everybody. A working mine minus freight cars is bankruptcy. Do you get it?

Now suppose the men managing that railroad conspire to create a car shortage at my mine, where am I?
Why, I'm up against it. I'm ruined.
And I'm ruined long before the law can offer me any redress. Many a mine owner has met ruin that way.

Now then, money is the car that gets our product to market. No matter what we have on our shelves or in our factories we are powerless without dollars. Dollars enable us to reach the market. They are the medium which conveys our values to the community. A money shortage is precisely like a car shortage at the mine.

DICK TURPIN'S LOSS OF POWER

A few railroad men, just a little while ago, had power to do just as they pleased. But they were exposed and now the interstate commerce commission is in command—in many ways. The railroad Dick Turpin have not the power that they used to have.

This government as regards currency, is confronted with precisely the same conditions.

The question is, how shall this government stop these men who have power to stop the flow of currency here or there? The trouble is not with the coal in the mine, nor with the goods in the factory. The trouble is with the men who now control the car dollars to take the goods to the market.

Power to Enslave

This administration claims that no man or set of men should have such power. Such power is simply the power finally to enslave this race. The problem is to free men from the power to create a money shortage.

PLAN BILL'S CAREER

WASHINGTON, June 24.—How the administration currency bill will be handled was decided upon by the democratic house banking committee today. The bill probably will be introduced Thursday simultaneously in the senate and house. Senator Owen and Representative Carter Glass will be sponsors for the measure in the two branches.

MADISON, Wis., June 24.—In the face of a telegram from the special water power committee, in Washington, announcing the unusual procedure of a conference upon the proposed water power bill with President Wilson, Senator La Follette, and administration department heads, for the purpose of perfecting the Wisconsin measure, Senator Kilean, bull moose leader, heading an amalgamation of the bull moose, stalwart republican and stalwart democratic members, sought to push through the Wolf River bill authorizing a water power company to proceed with the building of dams and reservoirs and other acts of the character sought, in the interest of the people, to be brought immediately under state supervision.

Scott Gets Wire

Senator George E. Scott this morning received the following telegram from the committee, at Washington.

"Washington, D. C.
June 23, 1913.

"George E. Scott,
State Senate,
Madison, Wis.—
"The committee on water power, anti-trust law and marketing law have been in session for two days on the pending measures. We have consulted with President Wilson, with Senator La Follette, with Commissioner Lane and Secretary Redfield.
Tomorrow committee will consult with Brandeis and others. Will return Thursday. Hold all measures until we return."
(Signed)
"HUSTING, BOSSHARD THOMKINS."

Senator Kilean and his associates thought they saw, in the absence of the three senators who were in Washington, a chance to slip over the Wolf river bill. They pressed it in the senate, and in spite of Senator Scott's protest that it would be betrayal to the public to pass this bill in the face of the telegram which he held in his hand, and which offered the last word on water power control, they succeeded in getting it up to the third reading. However, an effort finally to pass it under suspension of the rules failed. Suspension of the rules requires a two-thirds vote.

Bills Will Stand Test

Word from Washington is to the effect that the committee will return prepared to submit water power, anti-trust and marketing bills that will stand the test of every attack, and it is added that with new light thrown upon the defeated McGovern measure it is found to have been so loosely drawn as to be untenable.

AGED WALKER ILL

ERIE, Pa., June 24.—John En-against Weston on his hike from New York to Minneapolis, left Erie today over the New York Central

He was forced to abandon the trip last Thursday when he was taken ill.
His condition became so serious that he was advised to return to his home.
Ennis left New York City June 3.

Hoe, son of the late Robert Hoe, the printing press manufacturer for $75,- breach of promise, Miss Mae Sullivan today said that she had every reason to believe that Hoe would settle. Miss Sullivan alleges that although unknown to her, Hoe had been married for several months when he asked her to become his wife.

A special train was sent out and brought the injured to Mattawa.

WISCONSIN BANKS FEEL STRINGENCY

Bank Report for June 4 Shows Decrease in the Resources of $107,016.38

USUALLY INCREASE OF MILLION

Most Striking Falling Off Is in Overdrafts and Bonds and Other Property

MADISON, Wis., June 24.—In spite of the fact that the resources of Wisconsin banks have increased $24,206,861.09 in the past year the slight stringency in the money market showed its effect in the report of the banking commissioner, A. E. Kuolt, issued today. Compared with the quarterly report for April 4, 1913, the report of banks on June 4, 1913, showed a net decrease of $107,016.38. Usually there is an increase for the quarterly period approximating over a million of dollars, and while the decrease is not precipitate, it is noticeable. The total resources on April 4 were $223,016,845.37, as compared with a total of $222,909,828.99 for June 4.

The most striking decreases in the comparative resources for the two periods are $66,367.58 in overdrafts; $915,744.14 in United States, state, municipal and other bonds; $75,874.07 in real estate owned, and $2,234,511.77 in amounts due from approved reserve banks.

There was an increase of $2,584,950.26 in loans and discounts for the period. The total increases in resources amounted to $3,507,158.29, as compared with decreases of $3,614,174.67. Under the head of liabilities, the surplus funds in all banks increased $51,287.03, while individual deposits subject to check decreased $1,308,069.26. There was an increase of $632,606.75 in demand certificates of deposits, and a decrease of $995,680.42 in time certificates of deposit.

The deposits for the period just closed show a slight falling off from the previous report. Total deposits are $185,878,159.84, as compared with $186,158,677.72 on the previous period, a decrease of $280,517.88. The savings deposits increased $1,390,625.05.

The number of state banks and trust companies is 626, an increase of three.

Sioux Falls

Martin Berg, formerly city attorney of La Crosse and now practicing law in Sioux Falls, S. D., has broken into the limelight in the prosecution, as state's attorney, of Mrs. Mae Evans, charged with the murder of Dr. Edward Lockhart Moore, member of the faculty of the South Dakota agricultural college at Brookings. The case opened in circuit court in Sioux Falls yesterday.

When and where Dr. Moore became involved in the affinity affair with his slayer has not yet appeared at the trial.

Attorney Berg has won considerable renown in his new home by starting a crusade against persons who attempt to commit suicide. He has sent one man to the penitentiary at Sioux Falls for attempting to end his life. Should Mrs. Evans be acquitted of the charge of murdering Dr. Moore she would be liable to prosecution on the charge of attempted suicide because following the death of Dr. Moore she shot herself.

FIVE NEAR DEATH

Famous Dancer Gives Complexion Secrets

(Aileen Moore in Beauty's Mirror.)
I've learned the secret of Dolores' entrancing beauty—the wondrous charm that has dazzled the courts of Europe and captivated vast audiences everywhere. The famous dancer abhors rouges and cosmetics. Yet, despite the strenuousness of her life, she retains the incomparable complexion best described as "indescribable." An intimate friend tells me the senorita regularly uses on her face what druggists know as mercerized wax. This is applied at night in the manner cold cream is used and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead particles of skin which daily appear, and a fair, soft, fresh, girlish complexion is always in evidence.

Dolores' skin is not marred by a single wrinkle, not even the finest line. She wards these off by daily bathing the face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salolite in a half-pint witch hazel. As your druggists keep these ingredients, as well as mercerized wax (one ounce of the wax is sufficient), no doubt your readers will welcome this information.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

SOMEBODY'S BEAR

By LAWRENCE ALFRED CLAY.
Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

All young lawyers are referred to in stories as rising young lawyers. This doesn't do us outsiders any harm, and is taken as a compliment by the profession.

Mr. Burt Wilders, twenty-three years old, was a rising young lawyer. Most rising young lawyers have at least one uncle. Mr. Burt Wilders had one. That is, he did have one. He had just gone to his reward. He probably got it hot and heavy, for he had toted a grouch of some kind or other around all his life. He was mad at the whole world, himself included. He was mad that he was alive, and he was mad that he must die some day.

That uncle would have had no trouble picking out a dozen relatives to leave his money to, but he selected young Burt Wilders. It was doubtful if it was of love or affection. It was more probable that he hated Burt a little less than he did the others.

Two years before he died the uncle bought a bear. He didn't want that bear any more than a rooster wants two kinds of crows, but he bought him and he kept him just to be mean. For the same reason he'd have bought rattlesnakes had the occasion offered. The bear was kept in a cage in the woodshed, and he tried to be as mean as his master.

It was only a week before his death, and while making his will, that the grouchy old man saw just how he could make that bear a source of annoyance to others. He would leave his money to his nephew Burt, but he would also leave him the bear. No bear, no money.

The rising young lawyer accepted the legacies. The money he deposited in the bank, and the bear he deposited with a farmer at so much a week for his board. The will did not say that the beneficiary had to keep him in his bedroom. He must not part with him for three years.

A bear in any sort of cage has only to keep on gnawing and wrenching year after year to gain his liberty. One morning the farmer who had charge of the Wilders bear went out to feed him and make up faces at him and call him bad names as was his usual custom, and great was his surprise and consternation to find Bruin gone. Later on he found two of his sheep and a calf dead.

The obvious thing to do was to give an alarm and get men after the beast, and the farmer did it. The escape, so far as his pursuers did judge, had gone in for a high old time. He killed other sheep and calves. He was pursued all day long, but not overtaken.

At 9 o'clock one morning Miss Dora Lansing set out from the manor house on the hill with fishing tackle to visit Gem Lake, half a mile away over the meadow and through the woods. She did not expect to catch any fish. She did not even intend to try to. She would sit down on a mossy bank and listen to the chatter of the squirrels and the songs of the birds, and think and think. She would be in love some day. Love would lead to marriage, and marriage to a home.

"Mercy, but what is that?"
It was what might be called a mob of men's voices trying to sing "Old Black Joe." It was, in fact, seven tramps camped in a thicket twenty rods off, making as much harmony as they could without being paid for it. They had breakfasted and were ready to move on.

"My soul, but what shall I do?" she asked herself as she reached her feet.
If she retreated it must be across the meadow in plain view, and she was looking around for a hiding-place when the shouts of glee changed to yells of alarm. Breaking out of the bushes, each one yelling his own particular yell, the seven tramps came within thirty feet of her and started to cross the meadow. Lumbering along behind them, and not far from the hindmost, came a big black bear, growling and showing his teeth. It was the escaped captive. He wasn't hungry, but the sort of singing he had heard had roused his anger. He stopped for a moment to survey the girl, and then passed on. Perhaps Miss Dora should have jumped into the lake or taken to her heels with a prayer to heaven to give her the wings of a gazelle, but she stood stock still instead.

How far that bear chased those tramps, and how many of them felt his teeth, has not been recorded. It is sufficient to say that he soon returned to the girl with trousers patches in his mouth, and that he had no evident intention of eating her for breakfast. In fact, after laying the patches at her feet, he began to frik and gambol, and after five minutes advanced to have his head patted and to be called fond names. He liked it. That farmer had called him names and hurt his feelings till the change seemed a heavenly one.

When the girl saw that she was not to be harmed she turned to making friends with Bruin, and they were getting along very well when there came from the direction of the highway more shouting, and a young man on horseback appeared. It was the rising young lawyer. He was heading the chase to recapture his bear. The tramps had given the beast's whereabouts away. It is doubtful if a greater surprise could have been prepared for the young man. There sat a bear with a grin on his face—a bear that was supposed to be killing and devouring old women and children—and there stood a calm-faced girl with a hand on his head. Young Mr. Wilders halted fifty feet away and called.

"Beg pardon, but is that my bear?"

"It's somebody's bear," was answered.

"I'm sure it's mine. I'll bring up my men and capture him. I shall have a big bill to pay for the damage he's done."

The men with their nets and ropes were whistled up, and the bear lost his grin in a second.

"He'll have to be shot," called the owner.

"But I shan't let you," replied Miss Dora.

"But something must be done."

"He's such a good bear that I'm not going to see him shot. I'll take him home with me and chain him up."

"But, I tell you he'll kill somebody."

"Oh, no, he won't. You see, you don't know much about bears. You have picked on this one till you've got him mad. I'll take him to the house, and when he gets good natured you can come and get him."

And it looked like a miracle to the men when the girl walked away and the bear ambled along beside her. After they had stared for a minute with open mouths one of the posse approached Mr. Wilders and said:

"Young man, can I take it that you are single?"

"You can."

"And, young man, can I take it that you know what an opportunity is?"

"I think I do."

"If you don't you ought to be hit with a club. That bear has made an opportunity that an earthquake couldn't. You got to it, and by thunder, if you don't use that animal right all the rest of his days may your wife elope with a tin peddler!"

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Knows What Hit Him.

A QUEER noise was heard over in the direction of the road.
"I wonder," daddy remarked, "if that was the lady who hit me?"

"That," exclaimed Jack and Evelyn, sitting up in surprise, "was an owl!"

"Yes," agreed daddy, "and perhaps that was a lady owl. I was hit by a lady owl. But I haven't told you about it, have I?"

"Well, lately people who come home late and have to pass the livery stable have been telling strange stories. There is a big willow tree right across from the stable, and an old colored man started the story that it was haunted. Uncle Nate's wife, Aunt Sallie, is one of the finest landladies in our town, and when the washing is done Uncle Nate always carries it home for her.

"Uncle Nate has been insisting that lately when he passed under the big willow tree a 'bant,' as he calls the spook, dropped right down from the top of the tree and tried to knock him down."

"Every one who heard the story smiled. Uncle Nate was believed to be telling a yarn. Then a small boy who passed the tree about dusk was hit by something strange that dropped down out of the branches. Folks thought the boy had heard Uncle Nate's story and wanted to attract attention."

"But both Uncle Nate and the boy told the truth. Your daddy can prove it. One evening last week, you will remember, he came home from town quite late. It was almost dark when he reached the willow tree, and he had forgotten all about Uncle Nate's story when he passed under it. What do you think? Just as he was right under the tree something came down on top of his new straw hat and knocked it off his head. When daddy looked around he saw a dark figure go fluttering across the street to a tree over there."

"Daddy stood very still. He just wanted to see what would happen next. It did happen very soon too. Before he could get out of the way something dark and fluffy darted across the street through the air and came down before him on top of his head again."

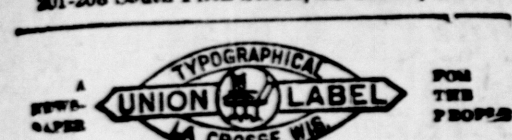

"Did daddy run? No, he didn't. He waited and poked around, for now he had a good idea of what was the matter."

"Just when he wasn't expecting it the black thing came back at him again and, seeming to have made up its mind he must go, kept flopping about and beating at his head until daddy hurried away."

"He told the liveryman about it the next day. 'Oh, yes,' said the liveryman, 'it's that gray owl! It has a nest round here. I suspect in that willow tree. It is teaching its young ones to fly, and it doesn't want any nosey boys or grown folks around watching it. That's the owl's way.'"

"And there was another nice ghost story done for."

VACATION SCHOOLSNo doubt many people will be surprised by the announcement in this paper that the state normal training school will continue work in three grades during vacation. But, in the light of what is going on in the school world, it is not strange.The United States Bureau of Education in a recent bulletin predicts that children in at least 150 American cities will continue going to school during the summer months this year. Clarence Arthur Perry, in a publication issued by the Russell Sage Foundation, finds that 141 municipalities reported vacation schools in one or more buildings in 1912 and that undoubtedly there would be more this year. There is a movement on foot in New York City to have all night colleges and the evening schools have come to be looked upon as essential to every well regulated system of public schools. The scramble for knowledge is constantly gaining impetus and one wonders where it will all end. Will the time come when men of letters must supply the vacancies left by the laborers who have dropped their shovels to acquire the higher education? Some of them even are doing it now. If all of the people are to become giants intellectually who will perform the mental tasks if not a fair share of these men intellectual giants?But men who have earned their bread by the sweat of their brow are averse to having their children follow in their footsteps, and they work a little longer and a little harder each day that their offspring may be supplied with knowledge equipping them for lighter tasks. The second generation goes a step farther and looks forward to a professional career for their children and thus the movement goes on. The professional men of today are working in an overcrowded field and while two decades ago the profession itself was a sufficient guarantee of success in life, today it is only the exceptional man in the profession who can afford the luxuries. The others peg along, satisfied to be merely existing, orleave their professions for which they are trained to seek wealth in fields for which they are untrained.In nine out of ten instances the parent chooses a career for the child and it is not always a career to the latter's liking. In the tenth instance the child chooses a career of which he knows little until he has gone too far to turn back.There is large room for doubt as to the wisdom of the present methods of educating the children, in some features and for some classes.
They are too exclusively preparatory to a college training and proportionately only a few of even the high school pupils eventually go to college.More vocational training would be of far greater benefit to the majority of students. An insight into business or the trades would put them in a better position to choose their lifework and would at least in a measure equip them to face a world that is none too kind. Vocational training has been making advances but not with such strides as it should. A few cities have made it a part of the curriculum of their schools but it is a side issue rather than a principal branch of school work. In the Hix-on annex and the state normal vocational school, now assured, the problem is partially solved for La Crosse, but not until it is a feature of the graded schools will the solution be complete.Let the vacation schools go on.
They will fill a humanitarian need in keeping children off the city streets and that was the original purpose of its promoters, but in preparing the course of subjects to be taught let some heed be given to the deficiencies of the regular courses and provide the rising generation with an insight into what is before them in life and how to cope with it. We do not doubt that as soon as the La Crosse normal secures its manual training school this department will be given a prominent part in the work of the vacation school so wisely opened this summer. Meantime the parents of La Crosse will thank President Cotton for keeping his children institution abreast of the times.SHALL SOCIETY HAVE NO PROTECTIONCommenting upon the Lawrence dynamite case in which, after one "higher up" had committed suicide rather than face trial, one alleged plotter against the union was convicted and another escaped temporarily owing to a jury disagreement, President Wood of the Woolen Trust, was acquitted. The Outlook says:"Two things are perfectly plain, however: First, in this strike there was an attempt to discredit the strikers by making it appear that they and their sympathizers were harboring dynamite; second, it was made clear that large sums of money were paid by the mill owners to Atteaux without an accounting to show for what definite purposes that money would be spent. For those men who participated in this 'planting' of dynamite there can be only the round-est condemnation. In whatever interest they distributed this dynamite, they were guilty of a particularly contemptible form of wrong doing.
The lesson that has been administered to them is one which we believe a very small minority of Americans need to learn. There is, however, another aspect of this case that has much wider application. It is a very common and a very blundering policy on the part of too many business men who face a difficult situation to hand money over to somebody who is believed to know how to 'fix things' and 'no questions asked.' This is a method that, in past times at least, has prevailed in politics. Men who themselves would never think of bringing another man seem to be willing to hand over money to subordinates without any expectation that an accounting of that money will be rendered, and with reason for believing that the expenditure of that money will be, in part at least, illegitimate. This practice is not the same as conspiracy to commit a wrong. We are, therefore, heartily glad that the jury, seeing this distinction, unanimously and unmistakeably acquitted Mr. Wood."The distinction was altogether too fine. You have a quarrel with a man. You call in a bad character and give him the price of a gun to rid you of your quarrel. You don't tell him to buy a gun—you trust to his depravity. You know his methods must be bad, for there are no good methods of which he can avail himself. That is why it is a secret transaction. We cannot congratulate the jury upon its verdict nor The Outlook upon the pleasure with which it approves of the vision with which the jury "saw the distinction." Society should be protected against men who use money in this cowardly way.Woodrow Wilson believes the white house grounds is no place for a mint bed. Perhaps it should be over at the mint.The next poet laureate of England will have to deal with the suffragette situation. It is not exactly a mollycoddle job any more.Quips and Cranks

In the Good Old Summer Bring the good old hammock and we'll have another swing, Fanned by gentle zephyrs while the little birdies sing.
Bring the good old briar pipe, whose vapors upward roll, Spelling sweet contentment to the overburdened soul.
Bring the good old novel that is of chivalry,
With its dashing hero and its maid of constancy.
Bring the good old pitcher that is filled with lemonade, And ice that always tinkles when you set it in the shade.
Bring the good old slippers and the smoking jacket, too, Then we'll be all ready to enjoy ourselves a few.
Let the high-toned summer people frolic by the sea, The hammock on the old side porch is good enough for me.

A Most Unjust Suspicion
A St. Louis man went out fishing one day recently. He had a nice lunch fixed up, but upon arriving at the fishing place he discovered that he had lost it, so he retraced his steps until he met a large, satisfied looking colored man, who was seated by the roadside under a tree picking his teeth.

"Did you pick anything in the road?" inquired the fisherman.
"No, sir, I didn't pick up nuffin.
Couldn't a dog hab found it and ate it up?"

Yes, He Remembered
Charlie is the cashier of a country bank. He and May were engaged to be married, but a quarrel separated them and the ring was handed back.
"And, remember, please," May added, "that when next we meet we do so as perfect strangers."

A few days later May entered Charlie's bank and presented a check for payment. Charlie took the check and examined it critically and then, instead of cashing it, he handed it back.

"I'm so sorry," he said, "but it's against the rules of the bank to cash checks for perfect strangers. You must find some one in town to identify you."

Plagiarism Defined
"What is your idea of plagiarism?"
"Plagiarism," replied the dramatic author, "usually consists of putting into practical form a plot which some contemporary borrowed from an earlier American author, who had borrowed it from the English, who had borrowed it from some Frenchman, German or Italian, who had borrowed it from the Greeks."

A Wonderful Play
There was a stupid play presented early in the New York season, an "adaptation" it was called by the author. Even the best natured critics went away in disgust. One newspaper representative turned to another and said:

"If that jumble had been presented on the other side of the water it would have been hissed. As there are a lot of foreign visitors present, I wonder that it wasn't."
"It really is a wonder," was the other's response. "I would like to have hissed myself, but—you can't yawn and hiss at the same time."

Lack of Appetite

When you have no appetite and even the sight of food is nauseating, you will have to build up your blood to get lasting relief. No amount of dieting, stimulating drugs or any treatment that overlooks the blood will help you for any length of time.

You can, however, always build up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can be certain they will make the blood richer and purer with every dose. This healthy blood will help to make your stomach strong and well. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills offer lasting benefit to every sufferer from indigestion.

Mrs. Curtis Sidle, of No. 71 says: "Overwork brought on stomach trouble from which I suffered for six years. My blood was in bad condition and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I would have spells when my heart palpitated so that I would have to go and lie down. The constant suffering made me nervous and weak.

Our doctor did not help me and I was discouraged until I took Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes made a great change. I could eat without distress and I felt better in the free diet booklet

Skill in a Damage Suit
In the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening they were talking about big legal fees when Representative Koenig cited a case.

Some time since, according to the representative, a man fell into an open coal hole, sued for damages and was awarded a substantial amount.
When he received a bill from his lawyer, however, he was stunned again, and as soon as he could get into hustling shape he hastened to see him.

"Your bill is outrageous!" exclaimed the client to the legal one.
"It is more than three-fourths of the amount that I recovered."

"Quite true," was the calm response of the lawyer, "but you mustn't forget that I furnished the skill and legal learning for the case."
"Yes," excitedly cried the client,
"but I furnished the case."
"Oh, as far as that goes," was the scornful reply of the lawyer, "anybody can fall down a coal hole!"

night, "and he must have forgotten all about them afterward."

The laugh that followed made her wish that she had been as careful with her speech as Henry had been

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The president is expected to sign the sundry civil bill and with the bill he will give out a memorandum setting forth his views on farmers' organizations from prosecution under the anti-trust act. It is expected the president will criticize this provision but will point out that it does not prevent such prosecutions if they should be considered proper.

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED

MONTREAL, June 24.—Four firemen were killed and three were injured while fighting a fire here which destroyed a sash and blind factory

Ice company. The loss is estimated at $125,000.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Proposals to advance in freight rates on pig iron from Virginia points to New Jersey and Pennsylvania were today suspended by the interstate commerce commission, and the present rates continued. The commission held the proposed advances unreasonable.

The Boarders.

Regarding the events of that rainy autumn evening at Mrs.
Moore's boarding-house in the far West Twenties of New York, accounts differ somewhat—although not enough, after all, but that we may piece together a connected story. Until the great event, they were trivial. It was the reflected light of the tragedy which gave gave them their importance.

Most of the boarders remained indoors, since it was too wet in the early evening for faring out-of-doors with comfort. After dinner, Miss Harding and Miss Jones, stenographers, who shared a room-and-alcove on the second floor, entertained "company" in the parlor on the ground floor—two young office-mates who figure but dimly in this tale. These callers came at eight o'clock. A few minutes later Professor Noll joined them. Professor Noll was a diet delusionist, the assistant editor of a health-food magazine. He lived on the third floor, across the hall from Captain Hanska, in a room furnished (as the Captain himself remarked during one of his genial moments) with all the horrors of home. For Professor Noll had traveled widely, gathering experience and junk; and in every port of the world he had bought freely of gilt-and-trash curios. He was as proud of that bizarre apartment as though it had been the Louvre. A charming old man was Professor Noll when he dismounted from his hobby—and occasionally when he rode it, too. A thick tangle of silver-silk hair and a little pair of china-blue eyes accented a personality all innocence, gaiety, and old-age prattle.

Miss Harding and Miss Jones had not arrived at that point with their young men where they wanted to visit alone. When Professor Noll entered and suggested music, they welcomed him. He sat down to the piano, therefore, and they all sang the foolish ephemeral songs of the picture shows. Mrs. Moore stood in the hall for a time, listening. Miss Jones smiled her and invited her in.
She was a landlady of the lugubrious type; she went silently over the sentimental passages with rhymes on "posy," "cosey," and "proposey"; and eventually she joined her voice with the singing. Once or twice she left momentarily to look after towels, furnace heat and other household cares. One of these tours took her to the top of the house, where Miss Estrilla, the lady sick with weak eyes, lived in a half-darkened rear room. She was a newcomer, this Miss Estrilla, and not yet well enough to take her meals in the dining-room. Miss Estrilla's brother, a slim, mercurial little Latin with an entertaining trick of the tongue, was reading to her by a shaded lamp, as he often did of evenings. When Mrs. Moore rejoined the others, they were singing full-voice.

On the stairs Mrs. Moore met Captain Hanska passing up from his late and solitary dinner. He was a little irregular about meals; and this evening he had come in, demanding dinner, after everything was cleared away. Half the boarding-house liked Captain Hanska, and half disliked him. Rather (and more accurately) all half-liked and half-hated him. A large man, of forty-five or so, he looked at first sight rather bloated, and at second only gross and big through the accumulation of middle-aged muscle and the thicker flow of middle-aged blood. He was bull-necked, broad-shouldered, wide of waist and heavy of leg. Everything about him denoted old strength gone stale. In face he showed the traces of what must have been great youthful comeliness. Even now, he had an eye which could be both keen and kind when his mood was gentle.
Those moods of his puzzled every one. No man could be more irritable at times; yet, none, as all the feminine part of the house, testified, could be more charming, more understanding of women. There was a curious quality beneath all that, a quality which none of Mrs.
Moore's boarders had the discernment to formulate. It was as though some inner driving energy sought an outlet, and found no way through that accumulation of flesh and blood and muscle.

Before he started up the stairs, he paused an instant at the parlor door and looked upon the singers.
"Come on in—the water's fine!" called Miss Harding jocularly.

Captain Hanska returned no answer. Apparently one of his sardonic gibes was on his lips, but he let it die there. And he turned away.

"He can certainly be a grouch when he wants to," said Miss Harding, as though apologizing to the young men.

"Fierce!" exclaimed Miss Jones.
And they resumed their singing. As Captain Hanska passed Mrs. Moore on the lower flight of stairs, his head was bent and he gave no sign of recognition.

Mrs. Moore did not leave the parlor, she testified afterward, until Mr. Lawrence Wade called, asking for Captain Hanska. As on previous occasions, he gave her his card, which read: "Mr. Lawrence Wade, Curfew Club." He had called before; whether two or three times, Mrs. Moore's memory would never serve to tell. But she recognized him perfectly—she would have known him anywhere, she said.

"Gee, who's your swell friend—"

RUSHFORD, MINN.

Pat Burke and wife were down from Oak Ridge to stay a few hours with relatives Sunday.

Miss Lily Berg, who has just finished a six months term of school in the Hungerford district, has arrived home and in a day or so will take up her duties as a clerk at H. M. Smith's department store.

and Mrs. C. K. Osgard, passed away last Thursday night, after an illness of almost three years' duration. Funeral services were held Saturday morning from the home. Rev. Magleson conducting the solemn rites, four little girls being pallbearers. Interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery, beside the little one's brother, Clifford, who died about seven years ago.

The rapid clanging of the fire bell, about 1 o'clock Thursday, sent everyone to the doors in almost a panic, as the recent dry spell of weather has made everything as dry as tinder and extra care has been necessary to protect one's property. The blaze was found to be in the smoke house belonging to the former J. A. Johnson meat market. No great damage was done, except to char the interior of the smoke house and give the firemen a hot run.

Rushford has a new and up-to-date bakery, Mr. N. O. Holt of Westby, Wis., having this week installed the paraphernalia necessary to carry on a good sized plant. Miss Edna Foss is at present assisting in waiting on the public's wants in the culinary line there.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Magnuson of North Prairie will long remember June 9, as upon that day their neighbors to the number of about one hundred met at the school house in their district and quietly made their way to the worthy couple's home, where, after presenting them with a fine dining table and chairs to match, all sat down to a four-course supper, after which the younger set played all sorts of games and the old folks talked over old times. At a late hour the self invited guests dispersed to their homes.

Miss Etta Erickson, after a week's visit with her many friends here, has returned to her home in Lanesboro. Miss Alice Kierland, who has been teaching in the schools at Salem, S. D., is spending her summer vacation with her parents here.

Miss Anna Kingsford, an instructor in the Minneapolis schools, is spending her summer vacation with her parents here.

Miss Anna Kingsford, an instructor in the Minneapolis schools, is spending her summer at the home of her father, E. S. Kingsford, in North Rushford.

Albert Holle has been a recent visitor at Stillwater.

Hugh O'Donnell, E. Mindrum and J. Jensen have been recent La Crosse visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parish and Miss Clara Sundby were Houston visitors a few days ago.

Mrs. Forbes and children of Albert Lea are spending a few weeks at the home of Mrs. Forbes' mother, Mrs. Moore, five miles northwest of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baerman of Lime Springs, Iowa, are the guests of W. Baerman's family.

Makes a Few Plain Statements Regarding Past Troubles Which Are Very Interesting

Chandler, Okla.—"For six years, I suffered with severe pains in the pit of my stomach, back and sides," writes Mrs. Ella Flowers from this place. "I tried several different medicines, but did not get any relief. When I first wrote you for advice, I thought I was past help, but can truthfully say that Cardui, the woman's tonic, relieved me at once. I gained at least 10 pounds, and everybody says I look so much better. I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me."

If you think that the publication of this letter will be the means of inducing other suffering women to try Cardui, publish it by all means.

There are thousands of women today, suffering from some form of womanly trouble. Are you of this number? If so, have you tried Cardui, as Mrs. Flowers did? Have you read her symptoms? Do they seem similar to yours? Cardui made her well, as it has made many other ladies well. Why shouldn't it make you well, too? We think it will. Try it. It is a gentle remedy, prepared from nature's roots and herbs with no bad after-effects.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY INVESTIGATES WORLD

William Schulz, age 4, St. James and Caledonia streets, again caused the police of station No. 2 trouble this morning when his mother reported to them that he was lost. William is a good boy, his mother says, but since he has learned that there is a big world outside of his home, he often has a longing to investigate it.

He had been playing outside of his front yard this morning about 10 o'clock, when his mother discovered him gone. She immediately telephoned the police who instigated a search for him.

He was found in the home of a friend a few blocks away. Several times before, William has strayed away from home.

SONG OF A FREIGHT CAR

I am a bumped and battered freight car on a side track in the yard. I am resting, resting gladly, for my life is cruel hard; and I seldom find an hour when I'm idle or at home. For I'm usually loaded and am out upon the roam. I've been shunted in Seattle. I've been switched in Boston town. I've been stranded in St. Louis, where I saw the train crew down. I've been snowed in up by Denver, I was wrecked at Council Bluffs. When the strike was in Chicago, I was stoned by savage roughs. I have hauled lumber in Wisconsin; I have helped move Kansas wheat. I have camped within the stock yards till they filled me up with meat. I have brought green watermelons from the sunny, sunny South while the darkies, gapping at me, "gan to water at the mouth." I have rumbled on the coast lines on the California shore; I have hauled the comper mustard crop and Santa Ana ore. I have been from Manitoba down to Matagorda Bay. While on every trip I've traveled the longest, slowest way. I have hauled the toll-scarred hobo by dozen and by one; I have carried honest, poor men on my longer westward run; I have carried fleeing criminals deep buried 'neath the corn that from off the rustling ranches to the greedy mills has borne. I've carried knaves from justice; I've carried fools to wealth. Hauled the hopeless home to parish, hauled the invalid to health. I have often lost an axle when the train was wrecked and stood for weeks until the workman found time to make it good. I've been everywhere, seen all things, been in sunshine, rain and snow. I've been idle for a fortnight and then for months upon the go. I'm a bumped and battered freight car on a side track in the yard. There are chalk marks on my body—they're my calling cards, but I see the pony engine coming for me on the fly. No idea where I'm going or what for, but—bump—goodbye.—Exchange.

SCOUTS RELAY NOTE

CARRY MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT WILSON TO MAYOR HARRISON OF CHICAGO

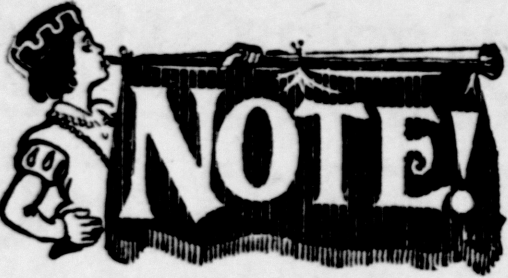

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Promptly at 9:30 a. m. today President Wilson stood on the east porch of the white house and delivered a sealed message to Fred Reed, assistant scout master of the Washington Boy Scouts organization. A moment later the lad was off on the first mile of the Washington-to-Chicago relay with the presidential communication addressed to Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago. Dressed in neat athletic uniform, Reed was followed by four automobiles filled with fellow scouts who in turn carried the packet a mile each toward Maryland after the initial carrier reached the city limits. The trip is scheduled to end Saturday in Chicago.

Now Are the Days Children Need Care

Summer Heat Dangerous to Little Ones Whose Bowels are Neglected

A mother cannot do better for her children than to teach them from their earliest days regularity of the bowels. Regularity can be promoted without the child knowing it by watching its food and by so varying the food that all the elements of digestion are used, when nature will do the rest. The future health of the child depends upon this.

But try as you will there are times when the little one will become constipated and bilious. In hot weather immediate attention is necessary, as many serious diseases result from stuffed-up bowels. Don't give salts or cathartics or purgatives, as they are too harsh, but give a gentle, pleasant-tasting bowel stimulant like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been used by the children of this as well as a former generation, and thousands of families are proud to speak well of it, among whom we can mention Mrs. Louise Reynolds, 909 Jackson street, Lynchburg, Va., who is glad to recommend it, and Mr. Chas. W. Allen, Manor, Texas, who writes that he often left 100

SAYS PLANE SCARED HIS COW TO DEATH

PARIS, June 24.—The first aerial livestock damage suit on record came to light today when Brindejonc Des Moulins, also the aviator, received a communication demanding $50 for killing a cow. WEDDING ENDS IN DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Two Are Dead and Two Others Dying as Result of Nuptial Free-for-all

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 24.—With two dead, two dying and thirty persons under arrest, Director of Public Safety Porter today led a searching investigation into the double tragedy of last night when Angelo Gregario, 31, murdered Mrs. Nicholas Bozell, 18, during a wedding celebration.

A free for all fight ensued in which over fifty Italians used revolvers, stiletos and knives, and when the police arrived Mrs. Bozell, a bride of five months, had been shot dead and Vincent Sorti, her defender, also killed by a bullet through the heart. Mrs. Rosa Gregario, wife of the slayer, was stabbed in the head; Felix Sorti stabbed severely in the side, and the slayer's throat was cut from ear to ear. The murderer and his wife are not expected to survive the day. Felix Sorti, brother of one of the slain men who escaped last night, was captured today and held for the assault upon Gregario.

CALLS MONEY BILL NEEDED AS TARIFF

Wilson Declares the Reform Measure Is as Important as Underwood Bill

END MONEY CONTROL BY TRUST

President Believes He Has Evolved System to Make Small Banker Independent

JOHN EDWIN NEVIN
(Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Stripped of all verbiage and technicalities, there are possible only two alternatives in reforming the currency, in the opinion of President Wilson. They are whether the people themselves shall hold the power, and because of this fact the whole strength of the administration has been thrown behind the Wilson-Glass measure, to be introduced today or tomorrow. The president intends that every possible weapon at his disposal shall be utilized to make the bill, practically as it stands, a law.

Necessary as Tariff
At his conference with the correspondents, the president today explained that he considers the currency bill just as much of an administration measure as the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill. The country needs currency reform just as urgently as it does the reductions in the cost of living. The proposed measure may not be perfect, the president admits that he does not so consider it—but he insists that it is a long step in the right direction.

The proposal that the president will appoint the central board of control, with the consent of the senate, will not be changed, if Wilson can help it, no matter how the bankers may object. To the charge that such a plan places too much power in the hands of a "political president," President Wilson replies that he does not consider there could be a possibility in the history of this country where a person would be "audacious enough to play politics with the credit of the nation."

Popular as Railroad Board
The president insisted that he believed that once the proposed banking commission is in operation, it will prove fully as popular and its work will be as beneficial as the railroad commission.

The criticism of the proposed law that it fails to retire the existing currency which was issued by the national banks, safeguarded by bond deposits, does not appeal to the president. Were it brought under the proposed law, the president says it would become emergency currency subject to the same regulations which operate over the emergency issue of $500,000,000 which the law authorizes. This emergency issue, the framers of the bill plan, shall be available only when needed, as times of financial stringency or when panics impend. It is to be issued as needed and retired when the emergency is at an end, and is not to conflict with the currency already in circulation.

The reason that the figure was fixed at $500,000,000 because it was found that during the 1907 panic the amount of clearing house certificates issued was less than half this sum, and it was felt that this amount would be sufficient. But this is a subject that is open to debate, the president admits, and it is possible that this particular clause will be amended. And the argument that some one bank might try to get the entire issue of emergency currency is put out, the president believes, to beloud the issue and has no actual foundation. The issuance of the emergency currency is the only real weapon, in the president's opinion, which will "take from the banking combinations the despotic powers they now enjoy of granting or refusing credit at will."

In other words, the president believes that with a central board here in Washington, as provided for in the bill, having at its disposal a half a billion dollars of emergency currency and the power to fix the discount feature on which it will be issued the days of the money trust will have passed; the great systems of interlocking bank directorates which have dominated the finances of the nation for years will be powerless to centralize the cash of the country in their own hands. The small banker, a member of the regional division, will be able to apply directly to the government for needed cash and if its security is sufficient he will get it regardless of the attitude toward him of the more powerful bankers.

People to Rule Banks
The inevitable result, in the president's opinion, will be that the people will rule the bank instead of the bankers ruling the people. The bankers' viewpoint is sectional, the president thinks, and he believes that when the central board is named the men on it will adopt a national and not a sectional view, and that this is exactly what is needed to end for all time money panics resulting from currency stringency. And the new board will represent the entire country and not the groups that at present dominate the finances of the nation with headquarters in Chicago and New York.

Democratic caucus continued. House met at noon.
Representative Fitzgerald made attack on the budget system of framing government appropriations.

JOHN D. IN PINK GOES TO ESTATE

Richest Man in World Arrives at Summer Home Clad in Lovely Silk Shirt

CLEVELAND, O., June 24.—Happy over the "fine morning," and the arrival of a baby in the home of his wife, John D. Rockefeller arrived in Cleveland today from Tarrytown for his summer stay at his Forest Hill estate. He was accompanied by Mrs. Rockefeller, her sister, Miss Mabel Spellman, seven or eight maids and seven boys and girls, children of the servants. The party traveled in a private car and made the trip from Tarrytown without incident.

The richest man in the world came down the steps of the train slowly, almost feebly, leaning heavily on his cane. But at that there seemed something chipper about him. It was the pink silk shirt he wore—one of the softest, pinkest, silk shirts ever worn. Bystanders gave the shirt almost as much attention as they did the man.

Rockefeller refused to be interviewed.

Time seems to have told on Mrs. Rockefeller even more heavily than on her husband. When she attempted to step into the waiting automobile alone, she failed. Tenderly Mr. Rockefeller half lifted her into the car and the party was whirled away to Forest Hill.

COUNTY OFFICIALS PICNIC TOMORROW

Board of Arbitration May Umpire Ball Game Between "Sups" and "Gang"

With flags and whisks floating in the wind—if there is any wind—with the crashing music of a brass band, the hundred or more county officials and their invited friends will march from the court house tomorrow morning at 8:30 a. m. to Singer's dock where all will embark on a launch voyage to Dressen park for the annual county picnic. One boat will leave at 8:30 and the second at 9:30 while Register of Deeds Andrew Thompson and Supervisor Robert C. Whelpley will run dispatch boats to and from the picnic grounds at intervals all day.

A large freight boat today took the ammunition for tomorrow's doings up to the park, where it was stored in a large tent. The boat was loaded to the gunwales with food of all kinds, sporting goods, for the Olympic games which will take place tomorrow, and considerable supply of hot dry goods.

The principal event on the program will be the annual baseball game between the supervisors and the court house gang. The manager of the "Sups" team refused today to announce the lineup of his team, while the Gang manager also refused to be interviewed, but both men "tipped it off, not for publication," that the other side did not have a look-in. Up to date no man with sufficient nerve has been found to act as "umps" at the game and it is probable that a board of arbitration will be appointed to settle the disputes that come up in the gigantic struggle for supremacy. It has been suggested that the board which is attempting to arbitrate the cooper's strike be engaged as they have made such excellent progress in the thirty or forty meetings held during the last month that they have nearly decided on a fifth man to settle the controversy.

NORMAL TO HAVE VACATION SCHOOL

Primary, Intermediate and Grammar Rooms to Be Conducted During Summer School Session

MOTHERS WILL WELCOME PLAN

Children Welcome Regardless of Whether They Have Been Regular Attendants

Next week Monday the regular summer session of the state normal school opens for a six weeks' term. Tuition in the training school will be free. Many parents may be interested in this fact.

Now that vacation days are here again, many parents are realizing that holiday times bring their problems as well as their pleasures. Mother is no longer relieved of the care of the children for three to five hours a day by some winsome teacher, for "teacher" is off on a vacation. This is one reason why mothers and fathers will welcome the announcement that during summer school, children whether students of the training school or not will be admitted to the primary, intermediate and grammar rooms free of charge.

Another reason is found in the growing demand of the people that their children be given something useful to do during the long summer days. We must do more than assert that the 9 o'clock bell and the 4 o'clock dismissal and the long summer vacation are outgrown devices of our great-grandfather's day. We must put something in the place of them. Morning and evening chores, weeding the garden, riding the old horse rake and picking potato bugs and so forth was part of the education of our grandparents. It trained them to be self-reliant and faithful to their duties.

Even if they would, modern fathers and mothers can find neither time nor devices for giving their children education in the summer months. When the public schools close their children must for the most part idle on the streets. Help must come from outside the home. The old adage of our grandfather's time that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" needs now to be followed by a new one that reads: "All play and no work makes Jack a careless citizen."

It is the profitable, carefully directed employment of time that makes Jack the useful citizen. And in his summer education work and play are blended; all his activities are made purposeful and regular. It is the intention of the vacation schools at the normal training school to include hand work and playground organization. The hand work will be under the direction of Miss Angell of the art department and the playground work in charge of Miss Eustis, the director of physical training, who last summer at Columbia university devoted her time to playground work.

Interested in Summer Schools
Besides the parents, there are many teachers also interested in the work of the training school at the summer session. One of the courses offered is application of educational principles to the work of kindergarten and primary grades. Miss Hitchcock, Miss Dineen and Miss Eustis will conduct the course.

Miss Dineen will have section one which will meet three times a week to observe and discuss, beginning reading and word study.

Miss Hitchcock, the kindergarten teacher, will have a four hour class devoted to principles of handwriting, with especial emphasis upon paper cutting and poster work.

Miss Laura Eustis will have a class that meets three times a week for discussion and observation of the theory and practice of plays and games.

Monday, June 30, summer school opens.

Tuition to training school free.

THREE KILLED IN WRECK AT BROWNS

Unidentified Tramps Lose Lives When Milwaukee Freight Trains Collide; Trains Demolished

Three tramps who were stealing a ride on freight train No. 70 of the Milwaukee railroad were killed near Browns, Iowa, Sunday morning, and other bodies are being searched for. The freight was running down a grade at the rate of fifty miles an hour, when it struck a work train. Engineer Stickney and Fireman Mellon of the freight were injured, but the crew of the work train escaped injuries.

Harvey Ross, one of the crew of the work train jumped when he saw that his train would be struck. He was discovered to be completely covered with several feet of drygoods boxes. A gang of Mexican laborers who were standing near the work train as it was struck by the freight were injured. Both trains were demolished. The exact cause of the wreck has not been discovered, but it is thought that a misunderstanding of orders caused Engineer Mellon to think he had a clear track.

All passenger and stock trains are being run over the Northwestern from Cedar Rapids to Clinton.

INDICT GOPHER ROADS

RED WING GRAND JURY CHARGES THREE RAILWAYS WITH VIOLATING THE TWO CENT FARE LAW

RED WING, Minn., June 24.—Secret indictments were returned by the Goodhue county grand jury this morning against three railroads, operating in this county on a charge of violating the two cent passenger fare law of Minnesota recently held constitutional by the United States supreme court. The roads indicted are the Chicago Great Western, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and the Northwestern. Judge Albert Johnson on whose instructions the jury acted, would not discuss the matter. It is not yet known when the indictments will be made public.

A. J. Rockne and Albert Schaller, both state senators, have offered to prosecute the roads for the state. State officers are enjoined from acting against the roads.

SHAKESPEARE PLAY SCHEDULED TONIGHT

There is much ado among students of the normal school for this evening the histrionic talent of the senior class will be on exhibition through the medium of William Shakespeare's mirthful comedy "Much Ado About Nothing," which will be given its premier in this city on the stage of the normal school. Miss McGary of the Cumnock School of Oratory, has "gone through the valley of Bakka and made it a well" as far as obtaining results from the cast is concerned. The stage settings will not be as luxurious as in a regular theater but what will be seen in that line is well chosen. The curtain will be pulled apart at precisely eight bells and the normal school orchestra will dispense musical refreshments between acts.

WINONA GIRL IS DROWNED BY WAVES

The two thousand La Crosse people on the steamer Sydney when it steamed out of Winona harbor Sunday evening did not learn until today that their passage was marked by tragedy. Miss Clara Piechowska, a twelve year old Winona girl who was wading in the river at the east end of the city, was caught in the high waves left in the trail of the Sydney and drowned. The girl was playing in the water with several other girls and was showing them how she had learned to swim when the big steamer swept by. She was dragged into the swift current by the aftersweep and drowned. Parties are still searching for her body. A heroic effort by her companions to save her nearly resulted in the drowning of two other girls.

FAIR WEATHER GREET'S CARNIVAL

Real Opening of the Big Aggregation of Shows Will Take Place Today

CROWDS THROU SHOW GROUNDS

Eagles and Show People Work Hard to Entertain People of La Crosse and Visitors

With a dazzle of lights and bursts of music from many bands the Wortham & Allen shows which have been brought here by the local Eagles, opened last night and much favorable comment is being passed in regard to the general looks of the aggregation.

Not in many years has the La Crosse carnival goers seen so many handsome woad carved fronts or so many really good shows. Half a hundred men yesterday were transforming Jay, Pearl, King and Fourth streets and the market square into a veritable fairland of pleasure. On both sides of the streets, as if by magic, there sprung up gay colored fronts, banners, riding devices, concession booths, refreshment stands, and what not, but the gambling devices were conspicuous by their absence.

The Wortham & Allen shows are not to be compared in any way with any of the preceding street fairs or carnivals. Their shows are all well equipped and the quality is of the very best.

Among the many big shows is Bucksinn Ben's Wild West and Dog and Pony show in which he presents his entire family in fancy handling of firearms, riding, trained dogs and ponies, in fact it is one of the most pleasing shows of its kind ever seen here.

Real Opening Today

Owing to the late arrival the motorcade did not open last night but will be running in full blast this afternoon and evening.

This is by far one of the biggest attractions ever carried with a carnival company and lovers of excitement will get their share of thrills this week when the four riders race around that steep saucer shaped track at an unusually fast rate, passing and repassing one another, and doing stunts on a motorcycle that seem almost impossible.

The big wild animal show was packed at the three performances that they gave. The lions, tigers, bears, pumas, wolves, etc., give a performance that more than pleases the numerous patrons. Miss Ernestine La Rose and Capt. Dyer are the principal trainers and seem to have perfect control of them and take them their routine in a highly satisfactory manner.

The educated horse Sahara is certainly a marvel. This beautiful equine adds, subtracts, fights fire, goes to bed and displays almost human intelligence.

The Miracle, an illusion show, was well received. In this show they exhibit the miracle painting, the Shadow of the Cross, which in itself is worth the price of admission.

Little Princess Carita that diminutive woman entertained her numerous visitors last night and the universal verdict is that she is the cutest and tiniest little woman ever seen in this section.

Bobby, the Crawfish boy, India, The Cabaret, the Side Show, Dragons, Fish, World's Oddities, Human Gorges, Cray House, Ferris Wheel, Carry us all and many other attractions go to make the best and most complete aggregation ever seen here.

Eagles Hard at Work

The local Eagles under whose auspices the affair is given are taking the tickets and doing everything to make the affair a grand success and with continued weather this should be a record breaking week.

Afternoon shows will be given in order to accommodate the out of town people and local people that cannot attend at night.

The management claims that all the shows are clean and moral and especially invite the ladies and children.

M'NAB WILL GO SLAVERY CASES ARE TO PROCEED

Cabinet meeting from Attorney General McReynolds and Secretary of Labor Wilson. Secretary Wilson reiterated his declaration that there had been no ulterior motive in his appeal to the attorney general to have the cases postponed until the elder Caminetti could familiarize himself with his duties as commissioner general of immigration.

The attorney general said that the explanation made by Secretary Wilson fully covered his own position in the matter. A general discussion of the entire problem followed.

Secretary Lane, whose home is in California, told the president all that he knew about the entire matter. He dealt especially with the political issues that have been raised. It was pointed out to the president that the case of six women who, after having been denied bail by the court, were freed on bond, took place in October last and that the assistant attorney general in the case, Mr. Harr, was an appointee of Attorney General Wickersham.

At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting the president called for all the papers in the case and all the telegrams that have been received at the White House during the last few days. He announced that an official statement of the administration's attitude would be made public probably late today.

Republicans to Press Probe That house republicans will press investigation of District Attorney McNab's charges of laxity in enforcement of the Mann white slave law, was asserted today by Representative Julius Kahn of California.

"White slavery must be abolished," he declared. "The people of our country have so decreed. Congress, watching the determined sentiment of the nation upon this subject, has passed several laws for the severe punishment of those who might be convicted of participation in the pernicious traffic."

"The prompt action on the part of the public prosecutors in bringing to the bar of justice those charged with violation of the Mann white slave law, has undoubtedly had a deterrent effect—and any relaxation on the part of these public prosecutors in enforcing the law destroys the efficiency of the statute."

"In the cases against Messrs. Diggs and Caminetti, I know nothing about the facts. I would in no way prejudice their cases. They are entitled to a fair and impartial hearing in the courts. But the United States attorney at San Francisco has sent his resignation to the president of the United States and in that resignation he declares: 'I am ordered by the attorney general over my protest to postpone until autumn the trials of Diggs and Drew Caminetti.' After I have advised the department of justice that attempts have been made to corrupt the government witnesses, etc."

"This is a serious charge. It demands serious consideration. The press of the country announced that the reply of the attorney general of the United States to these charges, when his attention has been called to the resignation, was: 'A republican United States attorney has resigned to make a place for a good democrat. I am shedding no tears over it.'"

"The country was shocked and had a right to be shocked after this flippant and partisan answer to serious charges."

"The country demands the facts and rightly so. My resolution instructing the attorney general to furnish all the papers in his possession bearing upon the case, to the house of representatives will enable the people of the United States to decide whether McNab was justified in using the strong language he did use when he tendered his resignation."

Secretary Wilson Takes Blame

Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson last night issued a statement in which he assumed responsibility for the postponement of the Diggs-Caminetti case. He declared that he had requested Attorney General McReynolds to postpone the cases because Commissioner of Immigration Caminetti had requested leave of absence almost immediately after he had assumed his duties to attend the trial of his son. Wilson declared that his request was not unusual.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 24.—District Attorney McNab today added fresh fuel to his controversy with the federal department of justice, when he made public correspondence relating to a third case, in addition to the Diggs and Caminetti and Western Fuel company cases, in which he charged Washington had interfered with his work.

Six women, whom he characterized as "of the lowest type" had been deported by federal judges and denied freedom on bail, McNab said. In spite of this fact, McNab declared he was ordered by the attorney general's office to have the women admitted to bail. Assistant Attorney General William Harr sent the order on October 12, McNab asserted.

McNab, in his reply to Harr inti-made that an attempt had been made to procure the women's freedom by bribery of his office.

"Nevertheless," said McNab, "the women were not deported and they are now engaged in illicit traffic in this city."

The federal grand jury that first indicted officials of the Western Fuel company, met today to consider resolutions condemning the action of Attorney General McReynolds. Another federal grand jury last night prepared resolutions of similar nature to be acted upon at their next meeting.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 24.—Secluded in their homes and awaiting the summons to appear in San Francisco against Maury Diggs and Drew Caminetti, indicted on white slavery charges, pretty Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, high school sorority girls who eloped with the young men in March, are apparently little concerned over the latest developments in their cases, the resignation of United States District Attorney McNab or the country wide interest in their affairs.

The girls were 19 years old and both were socially prominent before their flight with Caminetti and Diggs to Reno, Nevada, where they spent three days before being discovered.

Both Diggs and Caminetti are married. Caminetti is here awaiting the calling of the case. His wife and children are at his father's home at Jackson, in Amador county. At the time of the elopement, his youngest child was six weeks old. Diggs with his wife and child are at Berkeley.

Since they parted here, calmly and without a show of emotion, after their return from Reno, the four have not met. Before they returned, they were temporarily held in the jail at Reno.

"I wonder if my wife is thinking of me," remarked Diggs more than once.

Caminetti seemed more concerned about his baby. "I am anxious about my baby," he said. "I think my wife will forgive me."

V. S. and Charles K. McClatchey, editors of the Sacramento Bee, today telegraphed President Wilson:

"The Sacramento Bee protests against the acceptance of District Attorney McNab's resignation and appeals to you to look into the matter with a view to protecting your administration from the taint of shielding through the department of justice, rich or influential defendants whom unbiased federal grand juries have indicted after investigating a mass of incriminating evidence. We beg leave to suggest that you personally take the investigation into all the facts concerned therewith, to the end that justice and justice alone shall prevail."

Whether there shall be a congressional inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the resignation of United States District Attorney McNab at San Francisco, will probably be decided at a hearing to be granted by the house judiciary committee on Thursday. Chairman Clayton announced today that his committee on that day would hear arguments for and against their approval of the Kahn resolution. This measure demands submission to the house by the attorney general of all papers in the Diggs-Caminetti and Western Fuel company case.

The Hinebaugh resolution, originally referred also to the judiciary committee, was today sent to the rules committee. It provides for an investigation by the judiciary committee of all the facts in the imbroglio.

House procedure requires reference of such resolutions to a committee and a hearing by the committee of the proponents of such measures. Those supporting resolutions are expected to present evidence to support their claims that the subject matter merits consideration by the house and opportunity is also given for opponents to present their side.

For this reason it is anticipated here that the judiciary hearing on Thursday and a hearing on the Hinebaugh resolution by the rules committee at a later date will be in the nature of an investigation, even if the house does not specifically authorize it. It was pointed out by leaders that although the house did not authorize an investigation of the Lawrence strike yet the judiciary committee held hearings for several days on the Berger resolution, probing the evidence.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, June 24. — Wheat moved nervously today, weakening at the start and then advancing on some strength at Minneapolis and covering by shorts who oversold yesterday.

Weather conditions were bearish but at noon prices were up 1/4 to 1/2c over the day's opening and yesterday's closing.

Conditions over the corn belt were favorable to the crop today and the market opened with a break in prices. This decline was followed by a rally, when resting orders consumed the early offerings and noon found prices advanced 1/2 to 3/4c over the opening.

Shorts bought freely on an early dip in the oats market and options had a recovery and then a sharp advance ranging from 1/2 to 3/4c.

Provisions started firm with higher hog prices, but the market eased off a bit later in the day.

The afternoon trading had little effect on prices in the grain list, all the grains closing firm and higher than the day's opening.

BURNS HOLDS CHAMP

CHICAGO, June 24.—Champion Johnny Coulton is not likely to be a strong favorite in his coming battle with Kid Williams of Baltimore for the bantamweight title on the strength of his showing against Frankie Burns of New Jersey at Kenosha last night. The little easterner earned a draw with Coulton and at least one local newspaper critic today declared that if a hair line decision had been made Burns would have been awarded the bout.

OVERTURNS AUTO TO SAVE A GIRL

MILWAUKEE, June 24.—Risking his life to save a small girl who ran playfully in front of his automobile on the Janesville plank road on Sunday, Charles Walters, chauffeur for H. G. Meigs, turned a big touring car into a ditch and received injuries which physicians fear may develop seriously when he was thrown to the ground.

TO PLAY RUBBER GAME

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 24.—Michigan and Pennsylvania each had a game to their credit today following the easterner's defeat yesterday, 7 to 2. The deciding contest will be staged Wednesday.

Luderus, Lobert and Cravath went wild swinging the stick against Boston. Here's what they did: Luderus two triples and a single; Lobert, double, triple and single; Cravath, two doubles and a home run.

WOLVERINE COACH TO BOSS BROWNS

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 24.—University of Michigan students were highly interested today in the report that their baseball coach, Branch Rickey, was about to shove George Stovall out of his job as manager of the St. Louis Browns. Rickey today refused to talk of the rumor, or even to say whether he and Col. Hedges were dickering.

$26 FOR MCCARTY FIGHT

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 24.—Probate Judge Lydy announced today that he would begin an investigation to learn why the estate of Luther McCarty obtained only $26 of the proceeds of the Calgary fight in which McCarty met his death. The gate receipts at Calgary were $5,600, of which McCarty was to have received half.

OF PECK VICTIMS
RACINE, Wis., June 24.—The body of the seventh and last victim of the wrecking of the steamer E. M. Peck in this harbor Wednesday, June 11, was recovered yesterday morning. It was found floating in the river by members of the life saving crew near where the accident took place.

JURY ACQUITS THE

SLAYER OF MCCARTY
CALGARY, Alta., June 24.—Arthur Pelkey, the pugilist, Monday night was acquitted of a manslaughter charge which was placed against him as a result of the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout at the Burns arena here on May 24. It was charged by the government that McCarty died from a blow administered by Pelkey.

The jury was out less than an hour and a half before returning the verdict, although Chief Justice Harvey's charge was unfavorable to the defendant.

Watching The Scoreboard

The Pirates are out looking for extra runs anyone may have to spare. The Reds came from behind and noded them out by one run which is Pittsburgh's choice manner of getting licked.

Fifteen hits for twenty-six bases was called a day's work by the Athletics. Baker neglected to get a home run, but Barry knocked out two. Baker came along with a triple, double and single.

The White Sox and Browns refuse to do better than break even when started in double headers. After taking the first game the Browns worried along for twelve innings in the second and the Sox sneaked over the winning run just before it got too dark to see the ball.

The Giants and Dodgers wound up their first game with a home run party staged by Doyle and Wheat. Doyle's circuit knock tied the score in the ninth inning, and Wheat's delivery in the tenth with a man on base, sewed up the game. Besides the home run Wheat contributed a double and a single.

Mathewson was in form for the second game, which means that the Giants won. An unofficial count credits Matty with using but seventy pitched balls during the nine innings.
